Joe Baca, Jr. accomplishes major improvements in the district throughout his first year as Fifth District Supervisor.

San Bernardino, CA. - County of San Bernardino Fifth District Supervisor Joe Baca, Jr. completes a full first year in office with one success after the other- aiming towards the rise and growth of the Fifth district.

Joe Baca, Jr. was able to wrap up his first year by hosting an Open House Holiday Toy Drive with an incredible turnout and an overflow of gifts that were donated to underserved children in the Fifth district and toys to the San Bernardino County Animal Shelters. Over the past 365 days with the tremendous help of our community and County counterparts, the Supervisor has served his constituents, assisting in easing their daily life struggles by supplying them with more resources to improve their quality of life.

“Over the past year, I have provided residents of my district with the revitalization of several parks, such as Kessler and Ayala Park. By working hand in hand with our county departments and collaborating with my community, I have been able to create a safer and more protected environment for all. I have assisted in infrastructure improvements by approving work lane configurations to ease and improve traffic mitigation. I have increased my district’s levels of protection and safety by introducing two new Deputy Sheriffs and Code Enforcement deputies alongside specially marked vehicles who are exclusively assigned to provide support, safety, and protection in the City of Bloomington. I am working to achieve a safer, cleaner, and more progressive community for all in the Fifth district. Our work here has just begun.”
